NABET-CWA Bargaining Summary 6-4-14

Your Bargaining Committee met for two days with the Company representatives. We were able to reach an agreement on a grievance and arbitration procedure for resolving disputes regarding contract violations and an agreement was reached regarding the posting of job opportunities.

There was an exchange of several other proposals including schedule posting and changes, work week, and notice of new hires. Your Union also made several information requests, including information regarding the ergonomic changes to work stations.

The Company notified the Union that it intends to discontinue the annual employee evaluation and merit increases. Your Union objected to this change in this longtime term and condition of employment by the Company and further, believes such a change may be unlawful. Your Union is considering all legal options in response to this unilateral change in working conditions.

The next bargaining sessions are scheduled for July 9 and 10, 2014.

Your Negotiating Committee wants to remind you these bulletins are the official source of information during these negotiations. Information from any other sources should be considered rumor or hearsay.
